OPEN SPACE – FUSION is....GREEN

Fusion, the iconic product designed by J. Bennett and S. Adachi, and winner of the German Design Award 2020 and the Archiproducts Award 2020, is presented in its green version for 2022: plywood tops covered with linoleum and 3D printed planters, creating a "green wall", made from coffee grounds waste. Below is what was presented at the Salone di Milano 2021.

In collaboration with Arch. Matteo Silverio and WASP.

CIRCULAR ECONOMY with GLEB

POLITECNICO
MILANO 1863

Gleb is the result of a collaboration between the Politecnico di Milano and Arch. Matteo Origoni and is the result of research carried out thanks to the contribution of FiberEuse, a consortium financed by the European Community, whose objective is to recycle waste glass fibres. This material, widely used in various sectors (for example in the production of wind turbines and ship hulls), if recycled can offer great advantages in terms of resistance, liquid tolerance, absence of formaldehyde, lightness and flexibility. Thus Gleb, the desk resulting from circular economies, was born.
